SOME BASIC TERMS ACCORDING TO GDPR

Personal data (Art. 4 (1) GDPR): any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (hereinafter referred to as "the data subject"); an identifiable natural person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural or social identity of that natural person

Processing (Art. 4 (2) GDPR): any operation or set of operations which is performed on personal data or on sets of personal data, whether or not by automated means, such as collection, recording, organisation, structuring, storage, adaptation or alteration, retrieval, consultation, use, disclosure by transmission, dissemination or otherwise making available, alignment or combination, restriction, erasure or destruction .

Data subject's consent (Art. 7 and 8 GDPR): Consent is a freely given, specific, informed, and unambiguous manifestation of will by which a data subject, by a statement or by a clear affirmative action, signifies his/her agreement to the processing of personal data. It is an active and voluntary manifestation of will of a data subject to which he/she must not be forced.

Consent is one of the legal grounds based on which the Controller may process personal data. Consent is always granted for a certain purpose of the processing which must be known to a data subject. A withdrawal of consent not always means the Controller's obligation to dispose of personal data because the withdrawal of consent happens to a certain purpose for which personal data are processed and the Controller may process personal data also for other purposes for which the Controller will use a legal ground of the processing other than the data subject's consent.

In order to process personal data of a child it is necessary to obtain consent of his/her statutory representative. The national law of an EU member state provides the minimum age of a child from who consent of his/her statutory representative is not necessary; however such age must not be lower than 13 years.
